

If Something Should Happen: A Travel Insurance Disaster

Nothing could have prepared Paula for what happened on her Himalayan adventure. As an inconceivable chain of events escalated in severity, the travel insurance company that was paid to save her nearly caused her death. It was a travel insurance nightmare that kept her hostage in a Tibetan hospital. Follow Paulas footsteps from San Francisco to the Himalayas and back as she transforms from a luxury traveler to an insignificant number on an insurance policy. It was an unexpected and unassuming support team that came to her rescue. See additional photos that follow her adventure on www.somethingdidthappen.com
